Wang Ji Thong Family Scholarship For Health Professions 2024

Jason Wang, MD earned his medical degree from Northeast Ohio Medical University before completing his residency at the Long Beach Memorial Family Medicine Program affiliated with the University of California. He is board certified and a member of the American Academic of Family Physicians.

When Zack Ji was a young child growing up in Northeast Ohio, he aspired to become a doctor. However, instead of buying an MCAT preparation book, he spent his allowance on a computer so he could play Starcraft. This decision sparked his interest in technology, and he went on to graduate from the University of California, Irvine with a degree in computer science. Today, Zack manages an investment portfolio with holdings in medical technology, B2B commerce, nightlife, commercial real estate, and retail services.

Dr. Aileen Thong commemorates her father, Louis Gitsin Thong (left). Mr. Thong had a background in business management and finance and had careers spanning decades in the oil and rubber industries. After World War II, Mr. Thong accepted a position with the Standard Oil Company which would later become Exxon Mobil. In his position, he rose to become an executive of the company in Malaysia. Mr. Thong encouraged education for all children and Dr. Thong's donations reflect her father's desire for academic excellence in the health field.

Asian Services in Action (ASIA) was founded in 1995 by four women hoping to ignite the untapped potential of the emerging AAPI population in Northeast Ohio. The agency began as a small effort of carrying out a one-day health initiative that reached 60 members from the Asian community. Today, ASIA operates two International Community Health Centers in Northeast Ohio that have served nearly 7,000 patients. The organization has served nearly 60,000 clients and patients across nine departments and programs.
